

I urge you to keep limits on the percentage of media a corporation, company or individual can own. Freedom of the media is a cornerstone of democracy and your planned actions will ultimately destroy democracy because different and opposing views will not be aired when a small group of giant corporations control the airwaves and newsprints. I appeal to your integrity, which is certainly in doubt considering how much effort the FCC has put into gathering public comment and your continual and constant interaction with the very industries you are supposed to be regulating, to look beyond your unethical connections with giant moguls such as Verizon or Viacom and reject the destruction of our democracy by maintaining governmental regulation over the percentage of the media that any one entity can legally own.
